lasted for nearly three years virtu-nearly one thousand will return to

CARDINAL IS FIRST SPEAKER AT CONGRESS OF NATIONAL
CIVIC FEDERATION.

NEED MORE HARMONY

Prelate Dwelt On Interdependence of Capital and Labor and Necessity for Harmonious Relations.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 5.—Discussion of the relationship between employers and employees was the feature of the first day's session of the twelfth annual congress of the National Civic Federation. Cardinal Gibbons was the first speaker on the program, and was followed by Seth Low of New York, president of the organization. Judge Knapp of the Commerce Court, C. G.
Mumford of the New York Building Trade Employers' Association, and second assistant postmaster general Joseph Stewart.

Cardinal Gibbons was presiding officer for the opening day and President Taft is expected to preside over the meeting tomorrow and Thursday.
Besides the regular session of the Federation, consultations will be held by the various departments for the consideration of important questions.
For Industrial Peace.

Cardinal Gibbons made a plea for industrial peace. He paid tribute to the workman and declared the motto of both employer and employee should be, "Labor and Capital, one and inseparable, now and forever."
"The purpose of our meeting," said the Cardinal, "is to remove,
as far as possible, all hostilities and recriminations, all bickering and misunderstandings between capital and labor, so that mutual love and good will may be inaugurated between them, and the glorious reign of business and commercial prosperity may be continued and perpetuated throughout the land."

Capital and labor, the Cardinal declared, were "the inviolable arms of industrial activity" and should work in harmony for the common good. He said a hole had been shot around the workman ever since Christ handled the tools of an artisan in the carpen-ter's shop in Nazareth.

"If the profession of soldier has been ennobled by the example of a Washington," he continued, "if the profession of a jurist has been ennobled by a Marshall, if the profession of a statesman has been ennobled by a Webster or a Burke, surely the calling of a mechanic has been ennobled and sanctified by the example of Christ."

Are Inter-Dependent.
The prelate dwelt upon the dependence of capital and labor upon each other.

lieve," said R. W. Brockman of St.

tion of the Missouri poultry associa-storage," he continued, "eggs would go to one dollar a dozen in winter and ly unobtainable. Of course, it would affect the price in summer, but if it did not formers in that season could

Will Probably Be Fixed After the Operators Hold Hearing
Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, March 5.—The outlook in the coal industry will probably be cleared after a hearing of the hard coal operators here this afternoon.
Before the meeting it was said there is little probability that an answer to the miners would be ready today, while the operators agreed that the miners have been worked steadily of late and that the output for March would be above the normal. They admitted that the severe winter had made heavy demands upon the supply. Estimates of the amount of anthracite coal on hand vary in the neighborhood of ten million tons. This would be about a month's supply.

Wife of President Listens to Account

Rules Committee.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, March 5.—Mrs. Howard Taft, wife of the President, was an interested listener today in the tales of alleged oppression and cruelty in the Lawrence, Mass., textile strike told to the house rules committee when it resumed its consideration of the industrial struggle in the mill city.
Witnesses Detained.
Before the first witness took the stand Representative Berger of Wisconsin, socialist, had read into the records a telegram from W. D. Hayward one of the strike leaders to the effect that two women witnesses who were sought by Mr. Berger could not come to Washington because of injury sustained at the hands of police in recent rioting. One of the women, Hayward said, was in a hospital in a critical condition while the other was confined to her home.

Miss Tenn Camitta at Philadelphia, vocal student and Sunday school teacher and a member of one of the committees that sought to get the children out of Lawrence, told of the scenes at the railway station in Lawrence. She related how she endeavored to lead the children from the station to the train.
Violence to Children.
"For some reason the children got on ahead of me," she said, "and instantly the women and children were hurled into a struggling mass by the police. I was squeezed against the wall of the waiting room and was terribly frightened. The crowd in front of me was so dense I could see little I called out to the police. He caught one of the children, you're killing them."
"Later when I sought to accompany them to the police station, I was told that I'd better stay away or I'd be choked to death."

Miss Camitta denied that she saw any clubbing of women or children in the station nor any injured after the affray.
Women Clubbed by Police.
"I did see the police clubbing women to the patrol wagon," she said. "The wagon was crowded and the police were thrusting about with their clubs."
Miss Camitta told of detectives visiting the homes of parents of Lawrence children and threatening them to send away their children.
Miss Camitta stated that in all instances parents' consent for the removal of children was obtained.
Simon Kibel organizer of industrial workers said "This system of taking children from strike towns is the system that's going to prevail in this country in the future in labor wars."

Kibel testified that women were beaten when children were being made ready to be sent away.

Washington End.
Washington, March 5.—The nation-

out the following statement today:
"Further evidence of the manner in which the administration campaign managers are conducting the fight for delegates, has come to light in the form of a circular letter which is being sent to postmasters and other federal employees throughout the northwest."

Similar Letter.
"That a similar form of letter is being sent out through the south already, has been stated, but the exact terms have not as yet come to light. The letters received by the federal employees in the northwest are very delicately worded—such letters as only the pen of the diplomat
Mr. McKinley could well turn out—and abound with veiled threats and plausible promises."

Much Enthusiasm.
"Boundless enthusiasm is expressed and it is declared without hesitation that the sentiment favoring the re-nomination of President Taft is rapidly growing. There are those who throw out that the nomination of Mr. McKinley evidently forgetting the appointed office holders in the preceding paragraph."

Later On.
Further on the letter says:
"I am not and shall not be a candidate. I shall not seek the nomination or would I accept it if it came to me as the result of an intrigue, but I will not let my hands be a stain upon the white mantle of the nation which would make it difficult or

Over 30,000 People Are Reading This Paper To-Day

By J. R. HAMILTON

YOU Sir, or madam, are part of a greater audience than was ever gathered together in this city.

Your combined power is that of a great army.

Your possible purchasing power, alone, is enough to make every commercial institution here respond to your will.

You are going into the stores of this city now to spend that money.

And what you are trying to find out is how to spend it to your best advantage and where. Let us see how we can help you most.

Here, in this paper today, is the advertising news of the strong men of trade, the regular buyers and the best judges of merchandise. They have ransacked their shelves and their stock rooms to give you the finest they have. They are too shrewd to spend their money and attract your attention to anything but the best.

This is their biggest season, too, and some of the values they are offering today will seem impossible to you who do not know a buyer's necessities.

If you could go behind the scenes and see their stock of shoes and coats and dresses and suits and underwear; of furniture and rugs and draperies all shrewdly gathered from the ends of the earth; all brought down to the lowest figure or raised to the highest standard of quality by every method known to expert merchandising, then you would understand the labor that has been expended for you.

There is no advertisement in this paper too small for you to notice today. For every one of these smaller merchants has had enough faith in his merchandise to put his announcement before you as large as he could; enough courage to stand back of it, and the integrity to sign his name to what he presents. He has some good reason for talking to you, and the fact that he is talking to you is proof of his ability and success.

And there is no advertisement too large for you to study carefully. Many a buyer, with some good value worth a column of space, has had to put it in the middle of half a page and crowd it into three short lines.

Here then is your compendium of merchandise, your catalogue of good goods; here amongst these merchants who are asking your attention today through the columns of their advertisements and offering you the best that they have.

COUNCIL MAY PROVIDE FOR VISITING NURSE

WILL CONSIDER AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING OFFICE AT ITS NEXT SESSION.

HEAR FROM MISS TATE

Chief Klein Submits Report—New Cross Walks Ordered—Reading of Ordinances Continued.

With the instruction of City Attorney Maxfield to draw up an ordinance providing for the establishment of the office of visiting nurse, to be submitted to the Common Council at its next meeting, that body last evening took the first step toward securing services of that kind for the city of Janesville. This action followed brief talks made in support of the plan by Miss Edythe M. Tate of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, City Health Officer Dr. M. A. Cunningham, and Mayor J. C. Nichols. On the suggestion of the Mayor, Alderman Council introduced the motion directing the city attorney to draw up an ordinance, the motion receiving a unanimous vote.

Miss Tate, speaking in support of the proposition to establish the office of visiting nurse, stated that there were now thirty such nurses employed by Wisconsin municipalities, and that the demand for nurses to do such work was so great that it was not possible to supply them fast enough. The chief work of the visiting nurse is among the school children. She would make thorough medical inspections, to discover all cases of tuberculosis and other contagious diseases, and see that they are isolated and contagion prevented.

Referring to the work of Dr. Williams in this city Miss Tate stated that she had found that out of 398 school children 60 were in need of some kind of medical attention. The work of the nurse would not be confined to the school children but she would find that field richly demanding a great part of her attention. The homes of patients would be visited, they would be instructed how to care for themselves and avoid communicating the disease to others.

Dr. M. A. Cunningham, at the request of Miss Tate, briefly addressed the Council on the proposed plan. As evidence of the gravity of the situation he stated that there had been twenty-five deaths from tuberculosis during the last year, and that the number of cases was on the increase. Last week he had dissected three tubercles which had harbored cases of tuberculosis and he had another to dissect the following day. The work of the nurse, he said, was primarily one of education in sanitation and the prevention of the disease, although cures were possible in every case if taken in hand at the right time.

Mayor Nichols favorable. Mayor Nichols closed the discussion on the question with a few remarks. He felt that in view of the gravity of the situation, the course followed by other cities in the state, and the exceedingly small cost of the services of a nurse considering the number of people affected, it was imperative that the council should provide for the support of a visiting nurse.

Regular Business. First in importance and interest among the regular business brought up was the report of Chief of the Fire Department H. C. Klein for the last quarter. The department had responded to thirteen fire alarms since the first of the year, most of them still alarms. The wrecking outfit used by the department is in very bad condition and if the city wishes to have the services of this kind of equipment the ropes, pulleys and tackle which compose it will have to be renewed. The floor of the West Side Station is in very bad condition and the Chief asks that it be inspected at once with the view to repair or renewal. A new wharf tree and pole for the big tree trunk are required.

Also More Alarm Boxes. The installation of five more alarm boxes is recommended. The points designated are the corners of North Academy and West Bluff streets, West Milwaukee and Marion, West Madison and Prospect, South Main and South Second, South River and School streets.

On the recommendation of the Chief an order was introduced by Alderman Council which was approved by the Council directing the Water Company to install two more fire hydrants near the Wisconsin Carriage Works, one on Milwaukee street near the Elva Point and the other near the buildings.

Appointment Confirmed. Mayor Nichols announced the appointment of Frank M. Kennedy as Scales of Weights and Measures and Harry Austin as special police without pay to serve until April 15. Both were unanimously confirmed. The name of Kennedy was the only one submitted by the State Civil Service Commission, he being the sole candidate to pass the examinations. Harry Austin is to be in the service of the Royal Theatre.

Reports Submitted. Reports for the month of February were submitted by the Municipal Court, Chief of Police, City Treasurer, and the Street Assessment Committee. The latter Committee reported on the work done on the Fourth Avenue bridge and the amount due the Central States Bridge Company at the present stage of construction. The City Clerk was directed to draw an order on the City Treasurer for $7000, payable to the bridge company. Bills totaling $1935.46 were approved and allowed.

Street Walks Ordered. Brick cross walks were ordered laid across Holmes street on the west side of Franklin street, and across Jackson street on the north side of Oak street. Another was ordered on Locust street, on the north side of Holmes street. The Street

Commissioner was directed to resurface with rubble and gravel part of Afton road near the bend opposite the lower power plant, and to construct a ditch alongside that part of the road together with a cement culvert for draining it.

Commissioner was directed to resurface with rubble and gravel part of Afton road near the bend opposite the lower power plant, and to construct a ditch alongside that part of the road together with a cement culvert for draining it.

Order Notice of Election. Alderman Schindler presented an order directing the city clerk to publish election notices and to advertise for bids for furnishing the material and printing the ballots. Notices of the election was ordered published in the Janesville Journal.

Ordinance Review Resumed. The review of the revised ordinances was taken up after the regular business had been disposed of. As the hour was late it was not possible to complete the review as was planned. Adjournment was taken until Friday evening March 8.

CRIBBEN SUBJECTED TO NUMEROUS WRONGS

Losses His Grips, Misses His Train, Is Ejected From Hotel, Falls on icy Walk, and Goes to Jail.

Yesterday was the fourth of March, but to all intents and purposes and final results it was Friday the thirtieth for Thomas Cribben, who suffered a multitude of misfortunes—all of them unwelcome to an overworked thief.

The first misfortune of Cribben, it taking the first drink he dispatched, was the loss of his grips. Chief Appleby found him wandering aimlessly about the North-Western depot at yesterday afternoon. On questioning Cribben he learned that he intended to go to Highland Center, but that he had mislaid or lost his grips. The north-bound train was soon due and Chief Appleby visited with him a number of the hotels in the vicinity where he claimed to have been. The Chief did not enter the last one visited, but sent Cribben in alone. In less time than it takes to tell it, Cribben shot out through the door, propelled by some external force, from inside the door.

"Well," said Chief Appleby to his charge, "you had better come to my home and we will visit another hotel."

By this time the train had left and Chief Appleby, without awaiting his destination, started toward the police station.

"If you want to fight, you might as well fight right here," said Cribben. The Chief disclaimed any such intention.

At the corner of Jackson and Wall streets Cribben's train went from under him as he tried upon some ice. He remained his footing with difficulty and turning to Chief Appleby said with an expression of astonishment and dismay:

"There, I know knew you would do that to me as soon as you got a chance."

Cribben was given a lodging by the police and the morning's plight easily to being drunk. In default of a fine of $2 he was sentenced to six days in the county jail.

James Sullivan, deaf and dumb, was given eight days. Sullivan was picked up on Western avenue where he was ejected from a house where he did not belong and later fell asleep in the snow.

Thomas Koeler, who claims to be a railroad laborer and have his home in Chicago, also received an eight-day term in jail. Complaint was made that Koeler was begging and used insulting language to those who refused to contribute.

The program is not yet complete but it is planned to introduce into it a great variety of numbers of a highly entertaining nature. A committee consisting of the Misses May Hayes, Helen Flynn, Josephine Fitzgerald, and Elizabeth Davis has been named to perfect plans. C. Bechtman will be conductor. Only a portion of the cast has yet been chosen.

DEMOCRATS ARE BUSY BACKING FAVORITES

Nomination Papers for Wilson, Clark and Harmon Being Circulated in the City.

There seems to be quite a difference of opinion among the local democratic leaders as to their choice for presidential nominees. A portion of the party, led by J. J. Cunningham, are strongly in favor of Wilson of New Jersey for president and are earnestly advocating his candidacy and selection of delegates pledged to him. Clark of Missouri also has his friends in the city and they are led by Alderman Council, county chairman. Harman is not without friends and the more conservative democrats are rallied to his support. Papers for the nomination of delegates for these three democratic aspirants are being circulated, and are receiving many signatures. On the receiving end of the fence the Taft delegates' papers have been signed quite freely and the same can be said of the La Follette papers which arrived in the city a day or two ago. Thus far no Roosevelt papers have made their appearance, but they may be expected later it is understood.

SETTLEMENT SOUGHT IN THE CRONIN CASE

Attorneys Believe That Difficulty Over Estate of Murdered Man Will Be Settled Out of Court.

According to present indications a settlement of the difficulty arising out of the settlement of the Cronin estate following the murder of Michael Cronin several years ago, will be reached some time tomorrow and the case will not be tried before the circuit court. If the case is not settled at this time it will be tried at the end of the calendar.

The case has been brought by Agnes Cronin of Chicago, daughter of the murdered man, against Ellen Cronin, the widow. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant has kept back part of the money and valuables which rightly belongs to the estate.

Sartell Case Up. The case of Eugene M. Sartell vs. the Janesville Traction company was begun this afternoon. Dr. Sartell was the first witness called and he related the manner in which the accident occurred and other details concerning which he was questioned. He is seeking $10,000 damages as a result of the injuries sustained.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Paid advertisement; amount paid for each insertion, $1.25. At the request of many friends I have decided to announce myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor at the primary election to be held March 13, 1912.

It is due the voters and tax payers to know what I stand for, and what I will attempt to add in accomplishing if elected.

First, I believe in a conservative, economical business administration where every dollar expended represents a dollar in value.

Second, I believe in the impartial enforcement of law without fear or favor and that no line of business should be exempt.

Third, I believe that the number of saloons in Janesville makes it necessary for the man engaged in the business to resort to all sorts of devices to make a living. The number should be reduced and the men that are licensed should understand that offenses will not be tolerated. Obey the law or forfeit the license.

Fourth, the city is polluted with dives and gambling houses, with slot machines and other devices which ruin our boys and young men. These conditions should not exist and they need not.

I believe that my experiences for the past 35 years with men and affairs, qualifies me to render the city, which has long been my home, efficient service. I ask your support at the polls.

ELIMINATION GAMES
WILL BEGIN FRIDAY

Winner of Montello-Columbus Event Will Meet Janesville Five.—Edgerton Game Important.

On Friday evening of this week the first of the elimination games in this section for the representation at the Lawrence college basketball tournament will be played between Montello and Columbus. Janesville will play the winner of this contest to decide which shall go to the tournament.

Couch McMurtry has arranged for a game with Edgerton on Wednesday evening which promises to be a close contest. The game will be played at Edgerton and a good following of supporters will doubtless witness the game.

To date the Janesville five has been credited with seven straight victories and no defeats, which is the best showing which has been made by a Janesville team for a number of years.

The convention will last three days and bids fair to outstrip in interest and importance all of the previous meetings of the association. The local committee has prepared an elaborate program of steer roping and broncho riding contests, for which several thousand dollars in prizes are offered.

He was matched for the fight at the Madison show this week to box Ernie Zander, and cancelled at the last minute. Many of the Janesville boxing enthusiasts are going to Madison to witness the bout and issue a challenge to the winner of the Zander bout in favor of Kid De Munn for a second contest to be held here at some future date.

August Weberg of Orfordville Who Returned From Texan Visit Tells of Serious Storm.

Orfordville, March 5.—August Weberg, who returned Saturday from his trip to Texas, said that he was snowbound four days at the home of his father-in-law, Chris Sagen, near Texoma, Oklahoma, in the worst blizzard ever known in that region, which raged there Sunday, February 25. They have had three severe snow storms there recently. Snow covered the ranges so the cattle could not get feed and many became weak and died from exposure. Four hundred from one herd died in one storm and fifty from the same herd in the next storm.

Mr. Weberg said that in Oklahoma and Kansas on his return trip the snow was twelve feet deep in some places, and the railroad cars were filled full. The engine of the train was turned

FULL TREATMENT OF SUFFRAGE QUESTION

Most Forceful Arguments in Favor of Votes for Women Will Be Presented by Miss Grimm.

Miss Harriet Grimm of the Wisconsin Political Equality League will give two addresses in this city today on the subject of "Woman Suffrage." At four o'clock this afternoon she will speak to an audience at the high school and she will appear as the principal speaker at the meeting of the Social Union club at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium this evening.

In these two addresses it is expected that the suffrage question will receive forcible treatment and the strongest arguments in favor of giving women the right to vote will be presented. Miss Grimm is devoting her time in the interest of the statewide campaign which has been started in the interest of woman suffrage for Wisconsin. The question will be voted upon by the electors at the fall election and it is the purpose of the political equality league throughout the state, one of which was recently organized for Rock county, to educate the voters in regard to the movement.

At the meeting at the high school Miss Grimm will have no opposition offered to her arguments, but at the Social Union meeting the opponents of the movement will have a hearing. Attorneys T. S. Nolan and William H. Dougherty have been called upon to show some of the disadvantages of woman suffrage and Mrs. J. B. Day is on the program to assist Miss Grimm in the defense of the agitation. The program will be as follows:

First—"All of the Reasons Why the Women Should be Granted the Right of Franchise," Miss Harriet Grimm.

Second—"Its Lack of Legal and Social Reasons," Thomas S. Nolan.

Third—"Its Moral Influence," Mrs. J. B. Day.

Fourth—"Its Well Influences," W. H. Dougherty.

The Social Union committee again desires to announce that the public is invited to the program which will be Peking, March 5.—Leads still hang warningly on the roads here and there in the streets of Peking, although some of the bodies have been removed and buried. The daily marches of detachments of troops from the various legations through the streets of the capital are having a certain moral effect. The stores still conduct their business cautiously through small windows. The farmers from the surrounding district are not bringing in much produce and consequently prices are rising.

CHANGE IN NUMBERS
OF GAZETTE PHONES

Office Now Equipped With Nine Telephones of the Two Local Companies.

With the installation on Monday
of a new trunk line phone by the Wisconsin Telephone Company in the editorial rooms of the Gazette and the placing of a second telephone on the desk of the manager, the Gazette is now equipped with nine phones in the different departments.

The numbers have been changed also. The editorial room number on the Wisconsin line is now 76 in place of 773 rings as formerly. This latter number being transferred to the manager's desk in the business office.

That the public may not be confused by the change the following list will prove a handy reference:

To reach the editorial room direct,
call:
76 Wisconsin phone;
62 Rock County phone.
These are both direct trunk lines into this department. However, on the Rock County line an interchangeable switch is installed, so that the different departments can be switched onto the various lines without inconvenience or delay.

To reach the business office direct,
call:
77-ring two, Wisconsin phone;
77-ring two, Rock County phone.
To reach the manager's office, call:
77-ring three, Wisconsin phone.
77-ring three, Rock County phone.
To reach the job department, call:
77-ring four, Wisconsin phone.
27 Rock County phone.

The ninth phone is the P. N. D.
circuit that is used only for receiving the telegraphic report from the Associated Press and connects directly with the Milwaukee office of the Associated Press by a direct wire. It might be said in this connection that in the neighborhood of thirty-five hundred yards a day are received over this telephone and taken down by the stenographer, at the Janesville end of the wire, directly on the typewriter, making the copy all ready to be handled without delay.

It might be well to remember that the three trunk line telephones of the Rock County line are all interchangeable, various departments being reached by a private switch board in each department while the editorial room can be reached on the Wisconsin line only by a call to 76.
The three other departments, business office, manager's desk and job department, however, can be reached by interchangeable circuit on the Wisconsin line.

The necessity of installing the two new telephones was owing to the increase of calls and will be found to be a great convenience to the public who desire to reach a certain department without any delay.

SCHEDULE ANOTHER
DEBATE FOR FRIDAY

Seek to Decide Tie Between Beloit, Kenosha and Janesville Debaters With New Arrangement.

Communication was received this morning by Prof. H. C. Buel of the high school, which stated that on Friday of this week the debaters will again attempt to gain supremacy for their respective schools.

Janesville's affirmative team will remain at home and will meet Kenosha's negative team. Janesville's negative team journeys to Kenosha.

By this arrangement two new contacts are brought about, namely:
Janesville affirmative against Kenosha negative and Kenosha affirmative against Beloit negative. These teams have never met before in a debate and are arranged for in the above schedule. By this plan it is hoped that the Wisconsin champions will make themselves known and the tie which now exists will be broken.

TO USE STEAM PUMP
FOR SINKING PILES

Crew Working on Fourth Avenue
Bridge to Employ Powerful Jet of Water For Purpose.

Workmen employed in the construction of the new Fourth Avenue bridge this morning connected with the bottom of the donkey engine a powerful steam pump which will supply a jet to be used in sinking the sheet piling for the abutments and possibly the piling in the piers which have not yet been sunk. The steam from the pump is attached to the lower end of the pile with a flexible hose connection and by its force loosens the sand from beneath, permitting the pile to be sunk with very little pressure.

Transverse beams for supporting the floor have been bolted and riveted to the girders on the two spans erected. These were lowered upon wooden blocking which is now being replaced with the permanent iron shoes that will be bolted into the concrete.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME
OF FIREMAN MURPHY

Department Called Out This Morning
To Building Next to East Side Station.

Fire damaged property to the amount of several hundred dollars in the home of John Murphy this morning. Situated over the W. L. Fry barber shop, next to the East Side fire station. The contents of the two rooms in which the fire started were a total loss, some jewelry, including Mrs. Murphy's wedding ring and a little money being among the things gone. The greater part of the damage to the building was done by the smoke and water, although the smaller of the two rooms was badly burned. The cause of the fire was unknown, the family being at the time in the neighboring apartments with the exception of two small children who were heard screaming that the house was on fire. Mr. Murphy, who is a driver in the fire department, was away at the time and did not arrive until the fire had been almost extinguished. No insurance was carried on the building which is the property of Charles Conrad.

Judgment by Deduction.
Widow—I want a stone for my husband's grave exactly like the other one in the lot. Agent—But isn't it a trifle small for a man of your husband's prominence? Widow—No, sir! If Thomas thought a stone like that was good enough for his first wife, I guess it's plenty good enough for "Thomas."—Life.

Prayer of the Exile.
They are so homesick they pray like this: "If I should die before I wake, I pray the Lord my soul to take back to Tennessee."—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Bursting With Self-Importance.
"What is the matter with Jones? He used to be a modest sort of fellow, but lately he seems almost bursting with self-importance." "Haven't you heard? Mrs. Jones is suing another woman for alienating his affections, and put the damages at fifty thousand dollars."—Judge.

Cleaning Woodwork.
For natural finish woodwork that has become scratched or dented there is nothing better than a coat or two of shellac.

It is prepared at home by adding the dry yellow flakes to about 95 per cent. alcohol. If shaken occasionally, it will dissolve in a few hours. Shellac is a convenient form of varnish to have in a house, as it readily covers any mark on furniture.

Happiness Must Be Inborn.
"How can you make a person happy, against his will? If you try forever you will not knock any happiness into a person who has not got it in him to be happy."—Armin.

After five years, Interlaken has revived its "Alpenzug," a curious and pretty spring festival. It is the procession of the cattle, with their herdsman, from the low-lying meadows, where they have passed the long winter, to the Alpen, where they will have their summer quarters. "Alpen" is used here in the local Swiss sense, meaning a high mountain meadow, not a mountain peak.

For natural finish woodwork that has become scratched or dented there is nothing better than a coat or two of shellac.

It is prepared at home by adding the dry yellow flakes to about 95 per cent. alcohol. If shaken occasionally, it will dissolve in a few hours. Shellac is a convenient form of varnish to have in a house, as it readily covers any mark on furniture.

BUTTER GOES HIGHER; EGGS TAKE A DROP

Butter up to Thirty-five Cents Here Today But Eggs Drop to Eight Cents With a Good Supply.

Although butter went up two cents over last week's price the housewife can take some satisfaction from the fact that eggs went down two cents and are now selling at 28c a dozen. There is a large supply of fresh henfruit on the local markets most of the dealers having fully enough to supply all demands from their customers. The hens are laying well these days despite the cold weather and deserve the thanks of the populace who like eggs for breakfast as well as in the cooking. Creamery butter brings the dealers 35 cents today with dairy butter bringing from 30c@32c. This is two cents above what it has been for two or three weeks and is probably as high as it will go for a while. The trade in butter is slowly picking up though it is not as good as it was before the high prices drove so many people to eating substitutes. Authorities in Chicago markets state that they think the sale will increase gradually from now on until the price is again lowered. Today's markets are as follows:

SAMUEL TIMOTHY

CHAUFFEUR MAY BE FREED OF MURDER CHARGE.
San Francisco.—The slaying of John J. Moore, wealthy San Mateo capitalist and chairman, by R. Stanley Timothy, a chauffeur formerly employed by him, has aroused much talk owing to the peculiar circumstances of the case and the prominence of the Moore in San Mateo and San Francisco. Mrs. Moore is known as one of the most beautiful women on the coast. Mr. Moore became jealous of her alleged friendship for the chauffeur and told in wait for him. When the chauffeur appeared he shot at him four times, missing him. Timothy in turn returned the fire, killing John Moore. It is now claimed that there was no ground for Moore's jealousy, and that Timothy acted only in self-defense, and the district attorney, Franklin K. Swart, at San Mateo, where Timothy is now held in jail, expects that he will be freed without a formal trial.

PHYSICIAN ADVISES CUTICURA REMEDIES

For Eczema, Patient's Wrist and Shin Itched Like Poison. Scratched Until They Bled. Says: "Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured Me."

"Four years ago I had places break out on my wrist and on my shin which would itch and burn by spells, and scratching them would not seem to give any relief. When the trouble first broke out, my wrist and shin itched like poison. I would scratch those places until they would bleed before I could get any relief. Afterward, the places would heal over, and the flesh underneath would look red and feverish. Sometimes it would begin to itch until it would wake me from my sleep, and I would have to go through the scratching ordeal again."

"I consulted my physician in regard to it, and he pronounced it 'dry eczema.' I used an ointment which the doctor gave me, but it did no good. Then he advised me to try the Cuticura Remedies. As this trouble had been in our family for years, and is considered hereditary, I felt anxious to try to head it off. I got the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills, and they seemed to be just what I needed."

"The disease was making great headway on my system until I got the Cuticura Remedies which have cleared my skin of the great pest. From the time the eczema healed four years ago, until now, I have never felt any skin break, and I am thankful to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment which certainly cured me. I always use the Cuticura Soap for toilet, and I hope other sufferers from skin disease will use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment."

(Signed) Evelyn Hutchinson, Three Rivers, Mich., Mar. 10, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 25c. book on the skin and scalp will be sent free, on application to Porter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 174, Boston, Mass., Mar. 10, 1911.

CIRCUIT JUDGES TO BE ELECTED AT THE APRIL ELECTION

Judge Grimm's Term Expires and He is to be Re-elected Without Any Opposition.

In the rush and excitement over the choice for commissioners and Mayor of the voters of Janesville have forgotten the fact that at the April election they must also vote for a circuit judge for the 12th circuit composed of Rock, Green and Jefferson counties. Judge Grimm's term having expired. While there is no opposition to his reelection still it is expected he will be given a strong endorsement. Throughout the state there are six circuits in which elections will be held.

In the fifth district, which comprises the counties of Crawford, Grant, Iowa, Lafayette and Richland, must be chosen a successor to Judge George Clementson, whose term expires in January, 1913. Judge Clementson is a candidate for reelection.

In the sixth district a successor to Judge E. C. Higgins of La Crosse is to be chosen. Judge Higgins was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge J. J. Pratt, but now must come before the electors for a full term. The district comprises the counties of La Crosse, Monroe, Trempealeau and Vernon.

Judge Higgins faces opposition in his campaign for reelection in the person of E. P. Cowley of Whitehall, who has filed his petition for nomination.

Judge Byron D. Park of Stevens Point was appointed by Gov. McGowan to succeed the late Judge C. M. Webb in the seventh district, whose term would have expired the first Monday in January, 1913. An election now is necessary in this district, which comprises the counties of Portage, Waubesa, Waushara and Wood.

When Judge A. J. Vinje resigned the circuit judgeship in the eleventh to accept a place on the supreme court as successor to Justice J. E. Dodge, Frank A. Ross of Superior was elected to fill the term, which expires in January, 1913. He too must stand now for election to a full term. The district is made up of the counties of Huron, Burnett, Douglas, Polk and Washburn.

The twelfth circuit is a new one, created by the legislature of 1911, and the first judge will be chosen at the forthcoming election. W. R. Quinlan of Madison already has been certified as a candidate for the position. The district is made up of the counties of Marinette, Oconto, Florence and Forest.

A. J. Gill of Oconto today filed nomination papers with Secretary of State Fournier, thus entering himself as a second candidate for the twelfth circuit bench, in opposition to Judge Quinlan.

MINISTERS START NEW ASSOCIATION

Deloit Pastors Entertained Here Yesterday and Took Steps Toward Rock County Organization.

At a meeting of the Deloit and Janesville pastors in this city yesterday afternoon steps were taken for the organization of all the ministers in Rock County into an association. After considerable discussion on the part of those present at the gathering it was decided to elect a committee to work out the plans for such an organization and Rev. Laughlin, and Rev. Williams of Janesville, with Rev. Moore and Rev. Howell of Deloit were chosen to act in this capacity.

This action on the part of the ministers of the two cities was taken in one of the meetings held during the visit of the Deloit pastors in the city. The guests of the Janesville Ministerial Association, last week. Afternoon and evening came up from Deloit yesterday morning to spend the day which was begun with meetings and discussions at the Y. M. C. A. building at ten o'clock. In this meeting Rev. L. Moore, of Deloit, spoke upon the subject, "Are the recent criticisms of the church groundless?" He was followed by Rev. Hoffmeister of this city on "The recent movement in church circles" after which Rev. Kohlstedt, of Deloit, spoke upon "The prayer meeting; its place and use." The program was concluded by the discussion of the subject, "What remains to be done with the Sunday school?" by Dr. Beaton.

At twelve thirty dinner was served at the Myers Hotel after which a number of toasts were given. Dr. Laughlin acted as toastmaster during the meeting and called on Rev. T. D. Williams to respond to the toast "Our Guests." Rev. Pennington of Deloit, responding to the toast "Our Hosts," called upon and spoke on "The Progressiveness" to which Rev. Howell, of Deloit, answered by a talk upon "The Conservatism." Dr. Beaton next gave a very interesting talk on "Early and Late Experiences in the Ministry." At the conclusion of the toasts the matter of the county organization was discussed and the committee to take charge of pushing it appointed. The visiting pastors returned to Deloit on the four o'clock car, after a day which was pleasant as well as profitable to the Association of both cities.

WOMAN'S MOST SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE

Known All Over The World—Known Only For The Good It Has Done.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you will find women who have been restored to health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of the great good it has been doing among suffering women for the past 30 years.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking relief from their ailments, and many of them have been cured by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, many of whom state that it has saved them from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ailments peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

THE WAY OF A MAN

By EMERSON HOUGH

Copyright, 1907, by the Outlook Publishing Company

"If you like to call it a draw," said I, "it would suit me mighty well. You're the best man I ever took off coat to in my life, and I'll never wrestle you again unless I fear I blushed a little—well, unless you want it."

"Come! Come!" he cried, laughing and dusting off his knees. "I swear you Virginians are fellows after my own heart. But, come, I think your friend wants you now."

We turned toward the room where poor Harry was mumbled himself, and presently I found him to be the woman and told the negro man to drive him home.

For myself, I mounted Satan and rode off up the street of Watlingford toward Cowles' Farm, for certainly with my head dropped in thought, for the first time I had had enough to give me reason for reflection.

We went our carriage down to Watlingford that evening and had my new friend, Mr. Orme, out to Cowles' Farm for that night. He was a stranger in the land, and that was enough. I often think today how ready we were to welcome any who came and how easily we might have been deceived as to the nature of such chance guests. Yet Orme so finely conducted himself that none might criticise him, and indeed both my father and mother appeared fairly to form a liking for him. This was the more surprising on the part of both, since they were fully advised of the nature of his recent speech, or sermon, or what you choose to call it, at the Methodist church, the sentiments of which scarcely jumped with their own. Both my parents accepted Orme for what he purported to be, a minister of the gospel, and any singularity of his conduct which they may have noticed they ascribed to his education in communities different from our own quiet one. I recall very well the discussions they had and remember how formally my mother would begin her little arguments. "Friend, I am moved to say to thee," and then she would go on to tell him gently that all men should be brothers and that there should be peace on earth and that no man should oppress his brother in any way and that slavery ought not to exist.

"What, madam?" Orme would exclaim, "this manner of thought is a southern family?" And so he in turn would go on repeating his old argument of geography and saying how England must side with the south and how the south must soon break with the north. "This man Lincoln, if elected," said he, "will concentrate every slave in the southern states. He will cripple and ruin the south, mark my words."

"I do not think the south would fight the north over slavery alone. The south loves the flag because she helped create it as much or more than the north. She will not bear treason to the flag." Thus my father.

"It would be no treason," affirmed Orme, "but duty. If that flag became the flag of oppression, the Anglo-Saxon has from King John down refused to be governed unjustly and oppressively."

And so they went on, hour after hour, not bitterly, but hotly, as was the fashion all over the land at that time. My father remained a Whig, which put him in line sometimes with the northern men then coming into prominence, such as Morrill of New England and young Sherman from across the mountains, who believed in the tariff in spite of what England might say to us. This set him against the Jeffersonians of our state, who feared not a war with the north so much as one with Europe. Already England was pronouncing her course, yet these were not days of triumphant conclusions, but of doubtful virginal and hard judgment, as we in old Virginia could have told you, who say neighbors set against each other and even families divided among themselves.

I fear, however, that I was busier with the tramping of my politics than I was with matters of politics. I was not displeased when my mother suggested that we should all visit Dixiana farm to call upon our neighbors, the Sheratons.

"Mr. Orme says he would like to meet Colonel Sheraton," she explained. "Thee knows the Sheratons and the Cowles have sometimes been friends and sometimes enemies. I would rather we were friends. And, Jack, Miss Grace is quite thy equal. If any man be the equal of my boy, and any woman these must be thinking, thee knows."

"I was already thinking, mother," said I gravely, and so, indeed, I was, though perhaps not quite as she imagined.

Colonel Sheraton met us at his lawn and, as the day was somewhat warm, asked us to be seated in the chairs beneath the oaks. Here Miss Grace joined us presently, and Orme was presented to her, as well as to Mrs. Sheraton, tall, dark and lace draped, who also joined us in response to Colonel Sheraton's request. I could not fail to notice the quick glance with which Orme took in the face and figure of Grace Sheraton; and, indeed, he had been a critical man who would not have called her fair to look upon.

I say none could have failed to call Grace Sheraton fair. It pleased me better to talk with her than to listen once more to the arguments over slavery and secession. As for us two the language that goes without speech between a young man and a girl passed between us. I rejoiced to meet her always and did so now, declaring again my purpose to treat her simply as my neighbor and not as a young lady finished at the best schools of Philadelphia.

CHAPTER III.
The Madness of Much Kissing.

"THAT was a very noble thing of you," Miss Grace Sheraton was saying to me as we passed among the big trees of the Sheraton apple orchard. Her eyes were rather soft, and a slight color lay upon her cheeks, whose ivory hue was rarely heightened in this way.

"I am in ignorance, Miss Grace," I said to her.

"Fie! You know very well what I mean—about yesterday."

"Oh, that!" I said and went rather red of the face, for I thought she meant my salutation at the gate.

She redder than myself, needed no explanation as to what I meant. "No, not that," she began hastily. "That was not polite, but vile of you! I mean at the tavern, where you took my part."

So then I saw that word in some way had come to her of the little brawl between Harry Singleton and myself.

"To protect an absent woman is always unmanly," she said. "I thank you for caring for my name."

Now, I should have grown warmer in the face and in the heart at this, but the very truth is that I felt a chill come over me as though I were getting deeper into cold water. I guessed her mind. Now, how was I, who had kissed her at the lane, who had defended her when absent, who called now in state with his father and mother in the family carriage—how was I to say I was not of the same mind as she?

I pulled the ears of the hunting dog until he yelped in pain. We were deep in the great Sheraton orchard. Presently we came to a fallen apple tree, a giant perhaps planted there generations before. We seated ourselves here, and we should have been happy, for we were young, and all about us was sweet and comforting, yet, on my honor, I would rather at that moment have been talking to my mother than to Grace Sheraton. I did not know why.

For some time we sat there, pulling at apple blossoms and grass stems and talking of many things quite beside the real question, but at last there came an interruption. I heard the sound of a low, rumbling hollow approaching through the trees, and as I looked up I saw, coming forward with a certain confidence, Sir Jonas, the red Sheraton bull, with a ring in his nose, and in his carriage an intense brightness for one so young. I knew all about Sir Jonas, for we had bred him on our farm.

Miss Grace gathered her skirts for instant flight, but I quickly pushed her down. I knew the nature of Sir Jonas very well and saw that flight would mean disaster long before she could reach any place of safety.

"Keep quiet," I said to her in a low voice. "Don't make any quick motions or he'll charge. Come with me, slowly now."

Very pale, and with eyes staring at the intruder, she arose as I bade her and slowly moved toward the tree which I had in mind. "Now, quick!" I said, and, catching her beneath the arms, I swung her up into the low branches. Sir Jonas came on with head down, and his horn missed my trouser leg by no more than an inch as I dodged around the tree. At this I laughed, but Miss Grace screamed, until between my hasty actions I called to her to keep quiet.

Sir Jonas tossed up his head then and bolted for the tree where Miss Grace had her refuge. Then I saw it was the red thing of her Puritan parson which had enraged him. "Throw it down!" I called out to her. She could not find it in her heart to toss it straight down to Sir Jonas, who would have trampled it at once, so she cast it sideling toward me, and inch by inch I beat Sir Jonas to the tree to it. Then I resolved that he should not have it at all and so tossed it into the branches of another tree as I ran.

"Come," called the girl to me. "Jump! Get up into a tree. He can't catch you there."

But I was in no mind to take to a tree and wait for some inglorious discovery by a rescue party from the house. I found my fighting blood rising and became of the mind to show Sir Jonas who was his master regardless of who might be his owner. He charged me again and again, keeping me hard put to it to find trees enough even in an orchard full of trees. Once he sprang behind me, and he stood with his head still pressed there not two feet from where I was with my hand against the tree trunk for a sudden spring. His front foot dug in the soil, his eyes were red, and between his grumbles his breath came in puffs and snorts of anger.

Near by me on the ground lay a ragged limb cut from some tree by the pruners, now dry, tough and not ill shaped for a club. I reached back with my foot and pulled it within reach, then stooped quickly and got it in hand, breaking off a few of the lesser branches with one foot as we still stood there eyeing each other. "Now, sir," said I to Sir Jonas at last. "I shall show you that no little bull two years old can make me a laughing-stock." Then I sprang out and carried the war into Africa forthwith.

Sir Jonas was surprised when I came from behind the tree and swung a hard blow to the side of his tender nose, and as I repeated this he grunted, blew out his breath and turned his head to one side with closed eyes, raising his muzzle aloft in pain. Once more I struck him fair on the muzzle, and this time he bawled loudly in surprise and anguish and so turned to run. This act of his offered me fair hold upon his tail, and so affixed to him I followed, smiting him upon the back with blows which I pulled out through his hide where the pointed knots struck. Thus with loud orders and with a voice which he ought better to have remembered I brought him to his senses and pursued him entirely out of the orchard, so that he had no mind whatever to return. After which, with what dignity I could maintain, I returned to the tree where Grace Sheraton was still perched aloft and helped her down to earth once more.

"Tell me, Jack Cowles," she said, "is there anything in the world you are afraid to do?"

"At least I'm not afraid to give a lesson to any little Sir Jonas that has forgot his manners," I replied. "But I hope you are not hurt in any way?" She shook her head, smothering out her gown, and we seated ourselves again upon our fallen apple tree. Her hand fell upon my coat sleeve. We raised our eyes. They met. Our lips met also. I do not know how.

I do not hold myself either guilty or guiltless. I am only a man now. I was only a boy then. But even then I had my notions, right or wrong, as to what a gentleman should be and do. At least this is how Grace Sheraton and I became engaged.

I shall never forget the scene there under the oaks of the Sheraton front yard which met my gaze when Miss Grace and I came about the corner of the house.

Before us and facing each other stood my father and Colonel Sheraton.

His Death Came in Puffs and Snorts of Anger.

The former standing straight and tall, Colonel Sheraton with tightly clinched hand resting on his stick, his white hair thrown back, his shaggy brows contracted. My mother sat in the low rocker which had been brought to her, and opposite her, leaning forward, was Mrs. Sheraton, tall, thin, her black eyes fixed upon the man. Orme, also standing, his hands behind him, regarded the troubled men intently. Near at hand was the Sheraton's Jim, his face also fixed upon them, and such was his own emotion that he had tipped his silver tray and dropped one of the Sheraton cut glass julep glasses to the soil.

"I tell you, Cowles," said Colonel Sheraton, grinding his stick into the turf, "you do not talk like a Virginian. If the north keeps on this course then we southerners must start a country of our own. Look, man!—He swept about him an arm which included his own wide acres and ours, lying shimmering clear to the thin line of the old Blue Ridge. "We must fight for these homes!"

"You forget, Colonel," said my father in his low, deep voice, "that this man Lincoln has not yet been elected, and that even if elected he may prove a greater figure than we think. He has not yet had a chance to learn the south."

Orme had been standing silent, his face indifferent or faintly lighted with a habitual cynicism. Now he broke in. "He will never be elected," he said emphatically. "It would ruin the entire industry of the south. The south must needs, gentlemen, if you will allow me as a stranger to venture an opinion."

My mother turned her gaze to him, but it was Sheraton who spoke.

"I go back to the old articles of federation, our first compact," he said. "From the very first the makers of this country saw that by means of diverse industries the south was separated from the north. This secession has been written in the sky from the beginning of the world."

"Nay, Brother Sheraton," broke in my mother eagerly, "it was the union of brotherhood that was written first in the sky."

He turned to her with the bow of a gentleman. "It is you ladies who knit the world together with kindness," he said. "Alas, that men must read it with fighting!"

World's Oldest Investment.

The oldest investment security on earth is the real estate mortgage. We know that money was loaned on mortgages in ancient Babylon, in the time of King Hammurabi, four thousand years ago, and that some two thousand and five hundred years ago the great Babylonian banking house of the Eglal family invested large sums in mortgages on both city and farm property, the mortgages being recorded on bricks, which have been preserved in the safety deposit vaults of those times—great earthenware jars buried in the earth—preserved until the archaeologists, in our own day, and age, dug them up to show us when, where and how mortgages originated.

Praise for United States Army.

There is less coddlingness in the United States army than in the found in military forces elsewhere in the world. In England the reservists and the yeomanry are rather snubbed at the instruction camps and the non-commissioned officers; at San Antonio I saw no sign of this. Columbia Magazine.

Truly a "Lightning Calculation."

Arthur Grimth, the "lightning calculator" who died recently, was able to multiply any nine figures by any nine figures in less than eight seconds. In the auditor's office at Springfield, Ill., he did the day's work of fourteen clerks in three hours' time. He once solved this problem and had the correct answer almost as soon as the question was put: "What is the compound interest on 1 cent at 6 per cent, from the birth of Christ to the present time, and how far would that money silver dollars reach in the air if placed on a floor 25,000 miles in circumference?"

Household Economy

How to Have the Best Cough Syrup and Save $2, by Making it at Home.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add 25 pints of warm water and stir about 25 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly.

And you will find it the best cough syrup you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually stops the most severe cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and tastes like pleasant. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, croup, hoarseness, asthma, chest pains, etc.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in glandular and at the healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used and prized in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

THE OPERA.

By Howard L. Rahn.

The opera is a form of relaxation indulged in by people who have a strong musical bent. Some people are bent more than others, and look down upon the proletariat from boxes which are filled with recherche conversation and decollete trimmings. There are two kinds of opera now in use—grand and comic, although at times it is hard to tell the difference. The principal draw backs to grand opera are that it costs more, and lasts longer, requiring four hours to reach the point where the soprano with a svelte, while resplendent in a high C from captivity. Grand opera is sung in all the languages of the known world except English, including several of the Balkan dialects, and on that account is quite confusing to people who like a little plot served along with the rest of the meal, such as is found in "The Old Homestead," or "Ten Nights in a Bar Room." This kind of opera is sung mainly by musical contraltos, who are imported from some foreign seat at heavy expense, and it has a two-fold mission—that of educating the public taste, and cornering all of the 35 bills in circulation. Comic opera is to be preferred, as it is much easier to digest and forget. People who go to grand opera from a sense of duty, and retire with an apologetic air in the middle of the second act, never back out of comic opera looking as if they would prefer to be alone, and think of something else. Comic opera usually consists of two acts, surrounded by a number of tall tales and jokes which were coined about the time the stars first sang together. It has been remarked that the stars in comic opera never sing together in any thrilling extent, or if they do, no one complains about it. This should teach us that the less inside we take with our opera the better.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Gazette, March 5, 1872.—The Boston Daily Globe, a new daily paper, appeared yesterday for the first time.

The press of Janesville severely condemn the sending of General Howard on a mission to the Apache Indians. It is generally feared that his mission will result in another Collier peace farce which will allow the settlers again at the mercy of the savages. The Apaches are making numerous attacks on the trains in central Arizona. They have run off a large quantity of stock in the Grand Yampai Valley. Several have been killed while on these raids. Nearly 800,000 hogs have been packed in Milwaukee this season. During the month of February 155 persons died in Milwaukee, of which 30 were from small pox.

The collection of internal revenue in Milwaukee during the month of February was over one hundred and eleven thousand dollars.

Madison street lawns annoy the ladies of that city so greatly that they go to Milwaukee to do their shopping rather than undergo the risk of being insulted on the streets of the capital city. It is time for the legislature to adjourn.

The Green Bay Gazette says that the governor has refused to accept the resignation of Mr. Moulton from the relief committee, and he continues on duty. It treats with the same action may prevail with Captain Bourne who has also handed in his resignation.

War Education.

The best ships and guns and the most costly mechanism are utterly useless if the men are not trained to use them to the best advantage. Theodore Roosevelt.
